isola

Isola Files Complaint with U.S. International Trade Commission

October 30, 2008

CHANDLER, ARIZONA, October 7, 2008 − Isola USA Corporation ("Isola") filed a complaint with the United States International Trade Commission for violation of Section 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930, to remedy the unlawful importation into the United States of certain prepregs, laminates and printed circuit

---

CHANDLER, ARIZONA, October 7, 2008 − Isola USA Corporation ("Isola") filed a complaint with the United States International Trade Commission for violation of Section 337 of the Tariff Act of 1930, to remedy the unlawful importation into the United States of certain prepregs, laminates and printed circuit boards that infringe claims of Isola’s United States Patent No. 6,187,852 and claims of Isola’s United States Patent No. 6,322,885 or claims of Isola’s United States Patent No. 6,509,414.

Materials under the following product description codes have been listed in the complaint: VT−47 and VT−48 from Ventec Electronics; TU−662 and TU−752 from Taiwan Technology Corp.; IT−200DK from ITEQ Corporation; and S1000 from Guangdong Shengyi Sci. Tech Co., Ltd.

About Isola

Isola Group, SARL, with headquarters in Chandler, Arizona, is a technology−driven global designer, developer and manufacturer of high performance base materials used in the manufacture of advanced multilayer printed circuit boards worldwide. Isola's investment in research and development, technology and state−of−the−art manufacturing facilities and practices result in superior value to our customers, with innovative solutions to minimize costs and cut manufacturing time. Isola’s commitment is reflected in their global network of sales and distribution offices allowing them to meet evolving customer needs and provide a full spectrum of services. Isola's broad range of products are used in multiple applications including: aerospace, automotive, broadband telecommunications, military, chip packaging and testing, high end computing, high speed digital designs and other specialty markets. Isola operates multiple manufacturing, RDand sales offices throughout Europe, Asia and the United States. For a complete listing of product offerings and facilities, go to www.isola−group.com.

---

http://www.isola.de/e/ecomaXL/index.php?site=ISOLA_E_press_news